

EVALUATE THE REASONS.

EVIDENCE

UNDERSTAND THE RESULTS.

Original research and innovative article types that inform clinical decision making

NEJM Evidence, a new monthly peer-reviewed digital journal from NEJM Group, publishes high-quality studies from the front lines of medical research, including first-in-human and confirmatory clinical trials.

Sparking conversation around areas of medicine where clinical decisions are made without sufficient evidence, NEJM Evidence engages physicians in a meaningful way with clinical evidence.

NEJM Evidence publishes

- Original Research: clinical trials, epidemiology, and meta-analyses
- Reviews: standard, systematic, and other reviews, engaging and relevant for clinicians
- Clinical Trial Workshops: reviewing clinical trial design and execution
